ABOUT US

We are Quantum Intelligence a company that are specialists in private security and intelligence. Quantum Intelligence has recently been formed by experienced personnel from within the security and intelligence industry. Some of our consultants have over 30 years experience with key industry contacts, enabling us to provide the best service for any project.

Quantum Intelligence is not like an average private investigator, we have combined a range of professional services to work with organisations of any size and help private individuals. Our confidential and discrete nature gives clients more assurance when enlisting our expertise.

The perception of private investigators can be quite intimidating which is off-putting. We pride ourselves on our ability and high standards, we only ever use legal means to obtain information. If there are any parts of the law or our services that concern you, we will happily sit down and explain all the facts to give you peace of mind.

Our friendly and helpful team are always on hand to assist in anyway you need and never judge your reasons for wanting a private investigator. We handle very delicate situations on a daily basis, so therefore we always offer full confidentiality in everything we do.

If you feel Quantum Intelligence are the right company for you, get in contact today and book a consultation with one of our specialists to assess your requirements and build a package to achieve the results you want.
